

WAR AVERTED BUT PEACE IS NOT IN SIGHT

Mediation Proceedings Have - Reached Complex Stage at Niagara Falls

MEDIATORS STILL DIVIDED

Mexico's Internal Affairs
Prove Stumbling Block;
Take Middle Course.

NIAHARA VALDES, June 28.—Mediation tonight is the most serious step in the conflict between the two states. Its practitioners are undecided whether formally to adjourn or to discuss and renew their efforts through the American government toward bringing the Constitutionalist and Florida delegates into conference for the solution of Mexico's internal problems.

While the signing of the series of promises covering various phases of the international situation has brought forth confident expressions from some quarters, hope that mediation has been a success, such report has arisen among others directly connected with the proceedings as to whether anything of value actually has been accomplished.

War Is Averted

That war has been averted

not permitted, but of the actual negotiation in Mexico, few here see any visible signs of progress.

The protocols already signed set forth in effect the conditions under which the United States will recognize a new government in Mexico. Everything, however, is conditioned on the establishment of a provisional government which must be the result of an agreement between the two warring factions. These have not yet been brought together. Some of the mediators doubt if they ever will be. Even if they could be brought together, there is no indication that the Constitution will alter their compromising attitude toward the Huerta faction.

Mediators Divided.

Minister Naon, who is supposed to be on intimate terms with the Constitutionists, as he recently has been in private and secret communication with their representatives in Washington, professes optimism. Minister Suarez and Ambassador Da Gama are understood to be more confident and more hopeful. The Huertistas, on the other hand, are more skeptical. They want to bring about peace and are willing to wait a reasonable length of time for the ar-

In the meantime, the widening breach between Carranza and Villa and the weak resistance being offered by the Huertista troops to the Constitutional advance, are producing grave apprehension that a military conquest of Mexico City is likely. While mediation is in session and perhaps proves the international control very slow.

Take Middle Course.
 Tomorrow Ambassador Da Gama will return from a brief vacation. "Middle Square" hints it is clear that he has remained here merely to await Mr. Da Gama's return and not because he

WASHINGTON, June 23.—In Washington tonight mediation and the Mexican revolutionary situation both appeared to be in a somewhat unsettled state.

Agents of General Carranza, who have been here for some time, conferred frequently throughout the day and tonight Rafael Zubaran, principal
York on a special mission. He did not announce the purpose of his trip. Luis

Cabrera, chief Constitutional exponent of the proposed informal conference with Huerta's representatives and those of the United States at Niagara Falls by commissioners from Carranza, also announced that he might go to New York within a few days.

After issuing their emphatic denials of published intimations that General Carranza's revolution was being financed by American interests involved in the National Railway of Mexico and allied corporation, Mr. Zubarran and Mr. Cabrera declined to discuss further alleged correspondence relating to this matter. Serbourne G. Hopkins, the Washington attorney, whose alleged correspondence with General thought it was his duty to wait for the Constitutionalists' decision. The "disposition of the mediators" is to keep themselves free from entanglement in Mexico's internal affairs. Although the answer to the note sent by the mediators to Carranza last Monday has not arrived, it is expected tomorrow.

WAR AVERTED BUT PEACE IS NOT IN SIGHT OF AUSTRIANS

An important protocol as to the signed before the mediators can formally affirm. They have not yet obtained an explicit agreement between the American and Huerta delegates on the language of the protocol relating to the future evacuation of Vera Cruz by American troops. This had been left for consideration until the provisional president had been elected upon by the two Mexican factions. Without it, the international controversy would not be completely settled.

Informal Understanding.

The informal understanding is that a protocol shall be drawn which will set forth that the American forces will withdraw from Vera Cruz after a new provisional government is established and recognized. The Huerta delegates are anxious that a short period be fixed, extending from the day of recognition, within which the American forces should sail away. The United States has hesitated to make definite promises in this regard, preferring to await more material evidence of the actual pacification of the country.

Salt Lake Interested.

Reports from Willis V. Sims, special representative of the Lincoln Highway Association of Colorado, who has been in Salt Lake City for the last 40 days in the interests of the reliability fund, are encouraging. It is now the plan of the Utah people to arrange for a delegation to come to Colorado Springs in time to join in the Tollymore run and return over the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean highway. This party probably will come eastward over the Lincoln Memorial highway through Wyoming and this trip will give them an opportunity to compare the advantages of the two transcontinental highways. Special committees of the Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the streets and highways and the advertising committee, have these plans in mind and are rapidly working out the details. The committee which is giving consideration to the general plans for the Salt Lake City run is composed of W. E. Donohue, H. A. Hamilton, E. M. Light, G. W. Pierce and G. B. Merrick.

Heavy Travel Expected.

That there will be a heavy travel by automobile to Colorado Springs this year is the report brought back by Secretary Henderson. The people in the eastern and southern states have been so used to organized travel, that they have been coming to Colorado in this way. The fact that this is a natural and logical center for touring the Colorado Rockies. The rapid improvement of our main highways, not only in Colorado, but in adjacent states, is encouraging this form of travel.

MADDOO AGAIN WILLING TO HELP MOVE CROPS

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Secretary Maddoo mailed a letter today to each of the 3,400 national banks in the United States asking whether they believe it will be advisable for the treasury department to lend a hand again this year in the movement of crops by distributing additional government deposits.

Last year Secretary Maddoo deposited over $27,000,000 with national banks for crop movements.

WITHDRAWS PLEA OF MURDER; CASE GOES OVER

RUEBLO, June 29.—Learna Grove, who pleaded guilty to having killed George McDonald, benton, and killed Max Neumann, Pueblo merchant, today withdrew his plea, through counsel. An agreement was made whereby Grove will not be tried until the September term of court.

shoot some high Austrian official in order to avenge Serbia's wrongs. He declared that he knew nothing of the bomb explosion and that when the bomb exploded he was so bewildered that he missed an opportunity to fire at the assassin when he drove past the first time.

Both prisoners said they were natives of the province of Bosnia and belonged to the orthodox Serbian church. The instigators of the plot have not yet been discovered, but it is believed that the assassins had accomplices and several persons suspected of complicity in the crime have been arrested.

Official Account of Tragedy.

The official account of the assassination issued today, after stating that the deadly effect of the murderer's bullets was explained by the extreme closeness of the range, proceeds:

The Duchess of Hohenberg collapsed against her husband and Field Marshal Oskar Potiorek (thought she had merely fainted from the shock). He was strengthened in this belief by the fact that the archduke and duchess exchanged a few words in a low voice.

It was not until the field marshal turned round after giving instructions to the chauffeur to proceed to the governor's palace that he noted the archduke, while still sitting quietly upright, had his open mouth full of blood.

"When the car stopped before the palace the duchess was unconscious. After she had been lifted from the car the archduke collapsed in the seat."

The archduke died about a quarter of an hour afterward and a few minutes later the duchess expired without either of them regaining consciousness.

A report was current here today that the archduke's last words to his wife were: "Sophia, live for our children."

Servian Deputy Arrested.

Several hundred persons, including the Servian deputy, Anthanasius Sola, were arrested during the rioting which lasted until martial law was declared. The mob divided itself into several groups, which marched through the streets, even where wrecking and destroying property of the Servians.

Sola was arrested at Nevesinje and charged with inciting sedition. The rioters consented for the most part to Muslims of the lower class. They looted shops, throwing the contents into the streets, and invaded dwellings. The residence of a rich Servian, M. Jostanovich, a member of the Bosnian diet, and stepfather of the Servian minister to Russia, was pillaged and all the furniture of the hotel Europe, belonging to Jostanovich, was smashed. The hotel omnibuses, carriages and sledges in the stables were damaged beyond repair. Jostanovich was arrested.

The mob wrecked another Servian-owned hotel, many other hotels, cafes and shops. A veritable panic was created, and women threw themselves on the ground weeping hysterically. The police were powerless while Servians were charged and maltreated. Some returned to firing on crowds. One man, carrying a portrait of the German emperor, was killed. Fifty large detachments of troops were called out and martial law was proclaimed.

Interment Friday Night.

VIENNA, June 29.—The bodies of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, were conveyed today from Sarajevo by special train to Merkovitch, Dalmatia. From there they will be transferred tomorrow to a warship which will proceed to Trieste under the escort of a squadron arriving there Thursday morning. A special train will carry the bodies to Vienna, arriving at 10 o'clock at night. From 8 o'clock Friday morning until noon they will lie in state in the chapel of the Hofburg and the public will have an opportunity during these hours to pass through the chapel.

The interment will be made at midnight Friday at Arstetten. The emperor will not attend the services but will be represented by Archduke Charles Francis Joseph. A requiem mass which will be celebrated in the chapel of the Hofburg Saturday morning will be attended by the emperor and the members of the imperial family. Immediately afterward the emperor will return to Ischl, where he was sojourning when notified of the assassination of Archduke Francis.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand was greatly attached to his Arstetten estate, which he inherited from his father, and had spent much of his boyhood in its castle.

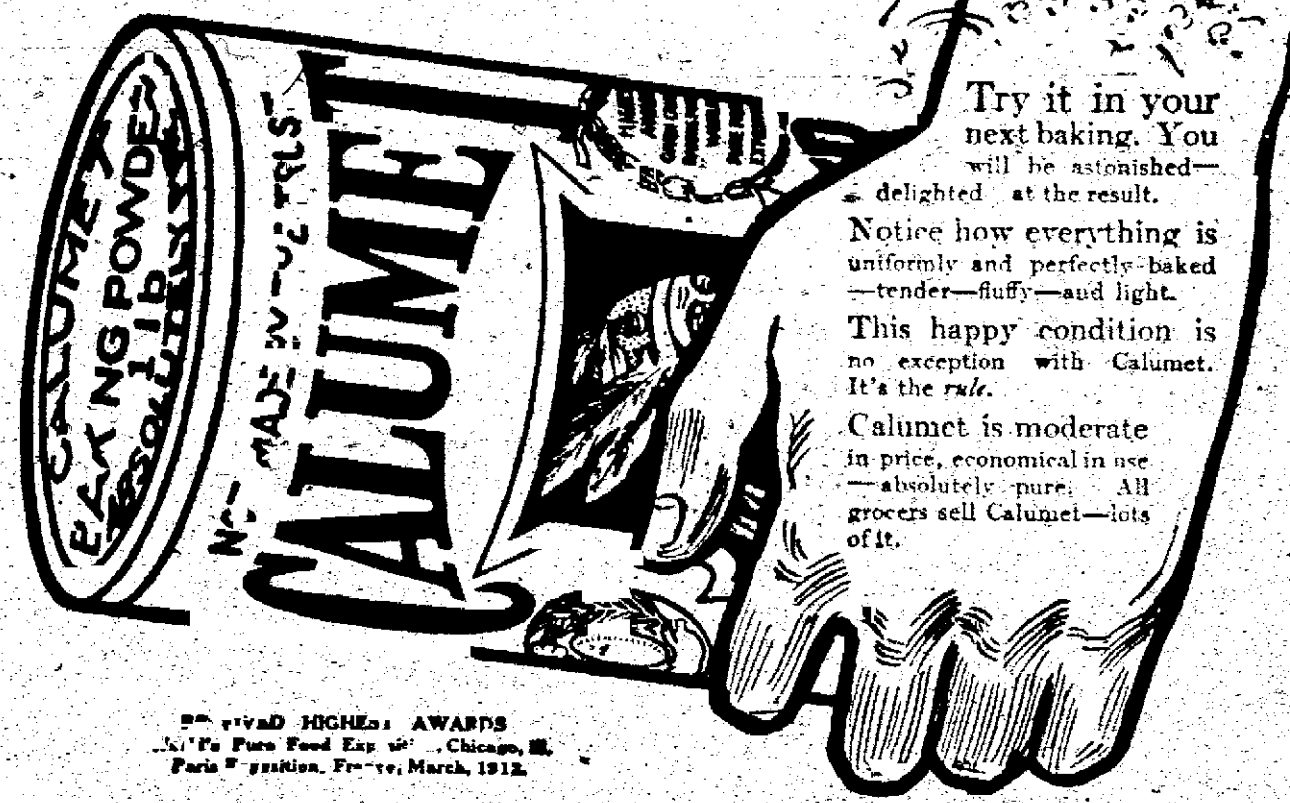

A diligent search among the archduke's papers has been made.

BRITISH WARNED TO FLEE MEXICO

Waiting on Carranza.

Lida Cabrera declared that he believed General Carranza would send delegates to meet with Huerta's commissioners and the United States representatives to consider the plans for a constitutional government. He said he thought General Carranza would have consulted his generals who were present in the plan of Guadalupe within a day or two and that a definite answer would be received soon afterward.

Washington government officials as well as Constitutionalists agents here expressed considerable interest in the report from Mexico City that Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, had advised British subjects to leave Mexico. Both, however, explained this action as a measure of safety resulting from the continued approach of the revolutionary armies upon Mexico City and the general uneasiness over the fact that the mediation conference at Niagara Falls had failed to bring about composition of Mexican affairs.

Pena May Be Candidate.

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—In well-informed circles it is reported that Gen. Angel Garcia Pena, who was minister of war in the Madero administration but now is one of Huerta's commanders, is to be a candidate for the presidency of the republic in the elections to be held next Sunday in that part of the country controlled by the government.

Gen. Rubio Nacarette, who recently commanded the federal troops near Vera Cruz, arrived here with part of his forces today. He went into the situation at once with President Huerta.

A claim by the American club in Mexico City for damage done last April by a mob has been presented to the government through the Brazilian minister, but the government has refused to consider it on the ground that while the club is composed of Americans, it is a Mexican corporation, operating according to the laws of the republic and enjoying the privileges of Mexican associations. Redress, therefore, the government says, must be sought through the Mexican courts.

The Brazilian minister said today that he has no fear of a critical situation arising in Mexico City. He believes conditions will improve and does not intend to remove his family from the capital, nor will he advise Americans to leave. The diplomatic representatives so far have failed to follow the example of the British minister who has advised British subjects to leave.

Great Activity in Capital.

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—There was notable activity in all government circles today. President Huerta had a long conference at the foreign office with the minister of the interior, the minister of finance and the foreign minister, Roberto Esteva Ruiz. Several of the foreign ministers called this afternoon on General Blanquillo, the war minister. It is understood the question of protection of foreign residents was discussed.

Minister Esteva Ruiz said tonight that the talk in the foreign colonies about sending the women and children out of the country was not justified, as the Mexican government was giving guarantees for the safety of all and there was not the slightest fear of an uprising in the capital.

FRENCH DIRIGIBLE STAYS IN AIR 35 HRS., 20 MINUTES

TOUL, France, June 29.—The French military dirigible, balloon Adjutant Vincent, piloted by Georges Joux and carrying eight passengers, has established a new world's record for continuous navigation by dirigibles. It remained in the air 35 hours and 20 minutes.

The German dirigible Zeppelin, L-3 established the previous record of 34 hours and 55 minutes in May by a flight from Friedrichshafen to Berlin.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 29.—Thirty-two members of the second squadron of the Fifth United States cavalry left Fort Leavenworth today for Walsburg, Colo., in charge of 45 horses. Orders were received to send all available mounts to Colorado.

U. S. WILL NOT TAKE HAND IN AFFAIRS OF DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

WASHINGTON, June 29.—There will be no American intervention in Santo Domingo as long as lives and property of foreigners are not recklessly endangered by the contending factions.

Administration officials indicated tonight they thought the warring forces in the island republic had been sufficiently warned when the American gunboat, Machias, used her four-inch guns to quiet the artillery of President Bordas, which was bombarding the rebel town of Puerto Plata.

Four American naval vessels now are in Dominican waters. They carry a sufficient force to guarantee ample protection to foreign interests.

Only a comparatively small number of the republic's inhabitants are said to be involved in the fighting. President Bordas, directing the siege of Puerto Plata, is said to be in command of only about 200 soldiers. Between fighting, spoils the combatants forage.

Dominican gunboat recently destroyed the customs house at Azua, 50 miles west of San Domingo. American officials, charged with collection and administration of Dominican customs, gave warning that such attacks should not be repeated.

CONTRACTOR HELD FOR UNION LEADER'S DEATH

CHICAGO, June 29.—Patrick Dignan, a learning contractor, was held to the grand jury today in an inquest over the body of George Hammond, business agent of the Excavators' Union and Asphal Workers Union.

Hammond called out the men working on an excavation contract held by Dignan and in an argument Wednesday at the scene of the work, the contractor shot the labor agent three times.

John J. McLaughlin, state representative, and president of a building material company, who was charged by agents of certain unions with extortion, did not appear at the inquest. A federal grand jury will meet July 13 to investigate the McLaughlin charges.

SHIP AGROUND IN FOG; ALL ARE SAFE

ALL RUSHED ON DECK WHEN CRASH CAME

British Destroyers Soon Reach Disabled Steamer; Vessel in Dangerous Plight

LONDON, June 29.—Three hundred and forty-eight of the 1,016 passengers of the Anchor line steamer California, ashore on Tory island, were landed here today. The others were taken to Glasgow.

In a thick fog the California ran on the rocks Sunday night, while bound from New York for Glasgow. According to the passengers, there was no panic. The sea was calm and the vessel apparently was moving less than seven knots an hour.

The shock was slight but the sudden stoppage of the California caused some commotion. The captain and officers quickly restored confidence and as a precautionary measure the boats were swung out. They were not lowered, however.

Rescue Ship Arrives

About 1 o'clock this morning the searchlight from a British destroyer summoned by wireless penetrated the mist. The California had been left almost high and dry by the receding tide. At low tide the islanders were able to get close to the bow of the vessel. The Hamilton liner, Cassandra, which followed the California through the narrow strait, lost sight of her in the fog Sunday morning, came into view two hours after the destroyers. Other destroyers soon reached the scene. From daylight the work of transferring the passengers proceeded. For several hours lifeboats piled back and forth and the passengers were hoisted to the deck of the Cassandra in baskets. Only one accident occurred during this operation; a Glasgow man fell out of a basket and was badly injured.

All Rushed on Deck

A passenger named Fulton, from Cleveland, O., in describing the accident, said that when the vessel struck everybody rushed on deck. There was considerable excitement but no panic. Fulton said he saw the vessel about 200 feet away. The captain was on the bridge. He shouted: "All right! There is no danger. Keep your heads!"

Later the captain advised everybody to go to bed but this suggestion was not obeyed. For 15 minutes the engines were reversed at intervals in the hope of backing the vessel off but this proved impossible. When it was found the bows were damaged and the California was making water, the engines were stopped. The arrival of the destroyers and the Cassandra gave great comfort to the passengers, who greeted them with cheers.

The California is in a dangerous position on the rocks. Her bow is jammed against the rocks and it is hoped that she can be refloated.

Held in an Insane Asylum; Now Asks $190,000 Damages

INDIANAPOLIS, June 29.—Miss Mary Regina Kerr of Louisville, Ky., who alleges she is a former member of the religious order of the Sisters of Mercy, filed in the United States district court here today a suit for $190,000 damages against the Rt. Rev. Francis Siles Chastard, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Indianapolis; the Rt. Rev. Joseph Chastard, bishop, coadjutor of the same diocese; Mary Curran, a member of the order of Sisters of Mercy; Jeffersonville, Ind., and Michael Wahl, chief of police of Jeffersonville, Ind.

Miss Kerr charges she was committed against her will to a hospital for the insane at Dubuque, Ia., and that because of her enforced presence there, financial loss was incurred by the hospitals which had been under her control at Jeffersonville, Ind., and Columbus, Ind. She alleges that she was general manager and treasurer of the corporation in control of these institutions and that she owned the stock of the concerns.

"Miss Kerr was formerly a Sister of Mercy and was known as Sister Regina," said Bishop Aoadutor Chastard tonight. "With the permission of Bishop Chastard of the Indianapolis diocese she conducted a Catholic hospital at Jeffersonville, Ind." Further than this the bishop refused to comment.

Wanamaker Flyer Lifts Ten Persons From Water Surface

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., June 29.—America, the Rodman Wanamaker transatlantic flyer, arose from the water tonight with 10 passengers, establishing another weight-carrying record for hydroaeroplanes.

The flight was not an extended one. In fact it was not intended by Lieutenant Porte, who had invited the special correspondents of the New York, Boston and London dailies to take a "taxi" ride on the water.

While planning alone a flying speed the America struck a swell which bounced her into the air for the better part of a hundred yards. Lieutenant Porte said he could have flown at any time, but had no intention of doing so with any such cargo.

Weather conditions continued most discouraging, a 30-mile wind and intermittent showers prevailing all day. Glenn Curtiss would not have permitted the America to leave the shore tonight but for his anxiety to test out the new hydro boards. After waiting all day he declared for a run this evening, "rain, shine or cyclone."

"The useful" load carried tonight was more than 1,500 pounds, or about 300 more than previously carried. Porte started out with a useful load of a ton, but after a short run he put off one passenger who weighed more than 200 pounds.

SOME KISSES THAT MADE HISTORY

From the New York Morning Telegraph.

In the year 1784 the beautiful, charming and famous Duchess of Gordon founded and raised the Gordon Highlanders, one of the most notable regiments of Scottish Highlanders.

The most attractive terms to a new recruit in this gallant regiment were a guinea in gold and a kiss from the lips of the far-famed duchess. It is said that this regiment of soldiers was raised more quickly than any other regiment in the British army. This seems all very good, yet the Gordon Highlanders paid dearly for the kiss they had received from the charming Duchess of Gordon. They were sent to fight the French, and in their engagement 300 of them fell, killed and wounded. The survivors of the Gordon Highlanders always maintained that they never regretted the price they paid for a single kiss.

In the year 1708 a stolen kiss was the means of bringing about a fierce and expensive war. Ferdinand of Bavaria was journeying into a neighboring state. One day during his journey he visited the royal household of a neighbor and while wandering around in the spacious park that surrounded the place he espied a beautiful maiden under a wide-spreading tree close at hand. He was so bewitched with her beauty and charming personality that he impulsively and thoughtlessly planted a kiss on her fair and lovely cheek.

She was a princess of the royal family, but the Bavarian prince did not know it; neither did he know that she was an affianced bride and that the bridegroom-elect was nearby and saw the whole affair. There were hot words and blows. A duel was fought and both principals were almost fatally wounded. Diplomatic relations between the two petty kingdoms were suspended and a long and terrible war ensued. The stolen kiss was paid for dearly in blood and treasure.

BEE INSPECTOR IS NAMED FOR COUNTY

Herbert E. Webb of Colorado City to Look After Honey-makers

Herbert E. Webb of 524 Montrose avenue, Colorado City, has been appointed county apicultural inspector for El Paso county by State Entomologist C. P. Gillette of Denver and his appointment confirmed by the local county commissioners. The appointment was made on a competitive examination. Webb will be paid by the county for his services to the bee owners of this county. His duties will include the enforcement of the Colorado bee law which became effective May 2, 1913. Webb will furnish literature on the law or bee care to anyone desiring it. Mr. Webb states that there are some 2,000 stands of bees in this county and that the industry is rapidly growing. The season this year is the best in the last 10 years, according to him, and each hive will produce from 30 to 100 pounds of honey.

Law Now Not Enforced.
The chief defect in most apiaries here, said Webb, when interviewed yesterday, is that the bees are in boxes which do not have the movable frames. This is against the state law and subject to fine and it will be his duty to see that all bees are put in hives with movable frames at once. This does not mean that patent hives have to be purchased. A good movable frame hive can be made at home. This is an excellent time of year to change the bees to the new type of hive and Webb is going to start work at once.

Section Eight of the Colorado Bee Law reads as follows:

"The state entomologist, his deputies or apicultural inspectors shall have full power in their discretion to order any owner of possessor of bees dwelling in box hives (being hives without movable frames) to transfer such bees to movable frame hives within a specified time."

How to Keep Bees Well.
Concerning the apiary in general, the literature published by the state department says:

"Put your bees in a sheltered spot, as much as possible facing south, southeast or southwest. A northern exposure has always proved detrimental with us. If your bees can be sheltered by a board fence from the hard winds, so much the better, but the ideal location is on the south slope of a hill."

Bees culture will succeed most anywhere, but a country with plenty of white clover pasture and orchards, and with low, moist fields, where persimmons (commonly called heartsease), golden rod, Spanish needles, asters are found in abundance during the fall months will prove good for honey production.

"Those who are thinking of buying bees should be sure that the bees they purchase are healthy and in good working condition. Many colonies are weak on account of the way they have been kept. The condition of the queen is important. If you are not competent to judge the quality of the bees it would be well to call on the county inspector and have them examined. A small expense in this way would be a profitable investment."

A colony of bees in a goods box or keg is practically worthless, while a colony in a standard hive with removable frames is worth from $3 to $5.

The securing of a bee inspector for El Paso county was brought about largely through the efforts of the trades and industry committee of the Chamber of Commerce and a trade trip to the apiary of Webb is now being planned by Chester S. Emmert of that committee. Webb will give a detailed lecture on the raising of bees and their care to the visitors who come to the apiary on this trade trip.

FIND MOTHER WHO DESERTED HER SON BEFORE HIS DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reckor Under Arrest on Two Serious Charges

Acting on information given by a man named Hansen, which indicated that they were the parents of the 10-year-old boy who died last Thursday afternoon at St. Francis hospital, Detective Officer Tom Purcell and Coroner Lawrence Reyle yesterday morning arrested Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reckor of 1102 Jefferson avenue, Colorado City. The couple admitted that they are the man and woman who took the boy to the hospital three days before his death, giving the assumed name of Meyers, and abandoned him there, even letting the body be buried without revealing their identity. They are confined in the county jail, and they will be held for abandoning the child and neglecting to observe health laws.

The boy's real name was Howard Russell, and he was the son of Mrs. Russell, by a former husband, from whom she was divorced five years ago. The Russells lived in Grapeland, Ark., and had four children. At the time of the divorce, four of them were committed to the state home for dependent children in Denver. The father, who remained soon afterward, kept Howard until about seven months ago. Then the mother claimed that he was being mistreated and took him away.

Mrs. Russell was married to Reckor three weeks ago in Canon City, and she and her husband have lived in Colorado City only two weeks. The boy was suffering from a contagious disease, and they claim that they took him to the hospital because they were afraid of becoming infected, and did not want to be quarantined. The officers claim that they did this because they did not want to be bothered with a sick child during their honeymoon. The couple say that they gave the name of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers, and said that they lived on a ranch near Calhan, when they took the child to the hospital, because they wished to prevent Russell from tracing the boy.

Hansen lives near the Reckors, and suspected when he read the newspaper accounts of the boy's death, that he must be their son. He communicated his suspicions to Coroner Reyle, and the arrest followed.

CANDIDATES ARE RETICENT ABOUT MAKING STATEMENTS

Court House Crowd Want Relection but Will Not Say So Until After the Assemblies

Although many of the reports of candidates are characterized as mere rumors, spirited contests will take place for the party nomination for many of the El Paso county offices. The present beliefs of local political circles prove true. Few definite announcements have been made by the people who will seek the offices, but the list of those who will make the race for the party nominations is becoming generally known. Many of those who will become candidates are withholding their announcements until after the county assemblies, the middle of the month.

The majority of the present county officers will seek reelection. This is true of Sheriff George Birdsall, who is a Republican; County Treasurer Samuel J. Bryan, a Democrat; County Assessor R. J. Griffin, a Democrat; County Clerk P. A. Sheldon, a Democrat; County Commissioner B. A. Ranta, a Republican; Coroner Lawrence Reyle, a Democrat; of Justices of the Peace J. P. Madden and D. R. Dunnington, both Republicans, and of Mrs. Minnie McCull, the County Superintendent of Schools, a Republican. Sheldon has declined to say whether or not he will be a candidate until after the Democratic assembly.

Two men already are known to be seeking the Democratic nomination for sheriff. They are Chief of Police Stark, and Constable Clyde C. Polman of Justice Madden's court. Mrs. Inez Johnson Lewis, a former county superintendent of schools, will seek the Democratic nomination for that office. Ira B. Kutch of Ramah will seek the Democratic nomination for the office of Commissioner Banta.

SEVERAL SPRINGS CARS TO ENTER DERBY RACE, JULY 3-5

Start From Denver and Reach Here at Noon on Fourth; Movies to Be Taken at Canon City

Friday is the day scheduled for the Colorado auto derby and more than a half dozen local machines are planning to make the trip. The start will be made from Denver and the machines will arrive in Colorado Springs at noon and remain until 4 o'clock. On the return trip they will reach here July 5. According to reports from Denver, the largest number of motor cars ever brought together for the event will start on the run. Arrangements are being made there for a rally for all entrants to the derby at one of the hotels on the night of July 2.

It is expected that the run will do much to unite the various towns and cities of the state through which it will pass and it has been planned largely with that end in view.

Word from Canon City states that the town is being decorated for the reception of the participants of the race and that moving pictures will be taken of the event as the cars cross the Sky Line drive.

Benefit for Strikers at Zoo Park on July 11

The Federated Trades Council, for a month, has been holding their night, sponsored by the local entertainment of the United Mine Workers of America, which will be held at the zoo all day Saturday, July 11, and give out state prizes to all the local unions to support the entertainment as the proceeds will go to the support of the families of the striking miners.

During the day, two baseball games will be played, one between the Carpenters and the Plumbers of the Union League, and one between a picked team from the Union League and the United Mine Workers.

LAWYERS WILL DISCUSS NEW PROCEDURE RULES

The new rules of procedure adopted by the state supreme court probably will be discussed by the El Paso County Bar association, as a whole, at a meeting to be called some time within the next few days. The Denver Bar association will hold a meeting for this purpose some time this week, and local attorneys have been talking over plans for discussing them in the same way here. Nothing has been definitely decided on with regard to the meeting, however. The rules have been published in the Denver News, and will be issued in some other form later for the convenience of the lawyers of the state.

NEW BAND STAND AT NORTH PARK ADDS MUCH TO MUSIC

3,000 People Heard Last Night's Concert: Sounding Board Adds to Volume of Music

The Midland band occupied the newly finished bandstand in Acacia park last night for the first time. Between 2,500 and 3,000 people collected in the park to enjoy the concert and there was almost a solid line of automobiles and carriages drawn up to the curb of the surrounding streets. The new stand throws the sound of the music out in a most satisfactory manner, the music being heard distinctly as far north as the college. The new stand is a distinct addition and there will doubtless be an even larger crowd out to hear the next concert which will take place next Friday evening.

TIME EXTENDED FOR FILING WATER ADJUDICATION CLAIMS

H. K. Wing, Referee, Starts Taking Testimony: Many in Fountain Valley Are Affected

Time for the filing of statements of claims in the adjudication of water rights in Water District No. 10, which was to have expired yesterday morning, has been extended to August 1. This action was taken Saturday by District Judge W. S. Morris, and at the same time H. K. Wing, who has been appointed as a referee in the case, was ordered to take evidence and report and prepare decrees respecting the various claims. Wing began taking testimony yesterday.

Water District No. 10 includes all that part of El Paso county which drains into Fountain creek, and the present adjudication will settle a large number of water rights in the Fountain valley. The adjudication will not affect the old decreed rights of 1882, but does affect all appropriations by ditch or reservoir since that time. Nearly all those claiming water rights in the Fountain valley are expected to present petitions to have their priorities and rights adjudicated.

The extension of the time for filing the statements of claim from yesterday until August 1 was granted on the petition of Referee Wing and of the Fountain Valley Land & Irrigation company.

BURNS OPENS WITH EXCELLENT DRAMA

Summer Stock Season Promises to Be Brilliant; Company Is High Class

By H. S. R.

Brilliant socially, triumphant dramatically, the third season of stock at the beautiful Burns theater opened last night with an almost flawless production of "The Spendthrift." It promises a summer dramatic season that will add tremendously to the favor of the Burns notable theater.

The big theater was well filled, especially in the more expensive portion, and every one was on the qui vive to get a line on the new players and the production. It was a sympathetic audience, unusually so for Colorado Springs, and warmed to the work of the players as the scenes progressed.

First night audiences of the stock are inquisitive as well as inclined to be critical. They want to know what the leading man looks like, if the leading lady is beautiful, has red hair or wears handsome gowns. These things as well as the knowledge that a charming play was to be presented by a reconstructed stock company brought out the fashionable folk, official life, and nearly everybody who is seen in the social life of the Pikea Peak region.

"The Spendthrift" is a powerfully conceived play of the new melodramatic form, modern and gripping. Donald Gregory, the new director, showed himself to be a master of stage craft, and in Frank Arlin, scenic artist, he has secured a most competent assistant. There are three settings, and it is difficult to choose between them as to perfection of detail and distinctness as between two of them. The lighting was unusually good and for a first night there was little to criticize in the coaching. It all speaks well for some splendid productions in the coming 10 weeks.

"The Spendthrift" is a play that exposes the weakness of living beyond one's means for mere show, missing the best in life. The spendthrift of this play is a "silly, vain, selfish" young woman who wrecks her husband's business in demands upon him for luxuries that she cannot afford. He is loving and weak, and strong in facing the crisis of poverty and near disgrace. He changes the wife is reformed, but the play leads from one good situation to another.

Outside of three or four chief speaking parts there is little for the new members of the company to do in this week's bill. Of course Malcolm Duncan was received with warmth. He is the favorite actor of the company and the only original member, for it would hardly be a Burns' season without him. He played Richard Ward with the force and manliness that constantly characterizes his work. Duncan is particularly strong in representing a feeling, always a feeling of reserved power and emotion in store, which is the acme of art.

New Leading Lady a Hit.

The public is going to like Miss Eleanor Huber, the new leading lady, because she is dainty and an actress to her finger tips. She senses the character of Frances Ward, the Spendthrift, and paints it with the gradual stroke of an artist, bringing a new and better understanding of her. Her naturally musical voice was a bit affected by travel and climate, but will improve. She wears beautiful gowns.

Of the remainder of the cast, Roy Bryant had a congenial role in Cartwright, and Miss Florence Radfield in a character part gave promise of excellent things. This comment is true of Minnie Kippen as Sufferen Thorne. Miss Xia Mao is going to be another favorite, doing her bit last evening with grace and charm.

Altogether it was a most pleasing opening, none better since the Burns started. The business should know during the coming week.

The "Diamond Circle" at the Burns theater shone brighter than last evening, with beautifully gowned and jeweled ladies, practically all the boxes being occupied. Among those noted in the house were: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dunning and a party from the Antlers; Mr. and Mrs. J. Dawson Hawkins; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lathrop; Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Tutt and party; Mrs. James E. Burns, who was accompanied by her father and mother; Mr. and Mrs. Parker; Mrs. Tootle of St. Joseph, Mo.; Mrs. Francis W. Goddard, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Marbury; Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Evans; Mr. and Mrs. George Biskard; Mr. and Mrs. Tait Milliken; Mr. and Mrs. Arularius; Dr. and Mrs. McClanahan.

Necessity was the Mother of the Remington

WHEN the need of the typewriter came to the business world, the Remington came. Others followed. Remington was the first typewriter—it is still the first typewriter.

First in the field, the Remington organization began building typewriters, step by step, from the actual practice of typewriter users—always a step or two in advance of the user's need. Others followed.

Today the Remington Typewriter stands unique as the greatest revolutionizer, the greatest energizer the commercial world has ever seen. And by no means least of its beneficiaries are all other makers of typewriters—for the Remington created the typewriter industry and blazed the way for the others to follow.

12,500,000 Remington-written letters mailed in the United States alone every business day in the year.

That tells the story of Remington pre-eminence, of the confidence of captains of commerce in it, of the faith of tens of thousands of efficient employees of the limitation selection in choice of operators and choice of positions—the machine that has made work for the millions, and nations for the world.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have paid if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOSCAW, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

WHITE DUCK SUIT FOR PRES. WILSON

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Representative Byrnes of South Carolina, went to the White House today with two white duck suits, which he presented to President Wilson and Secretary Tumulty. The duck was made at an old cotton mill in South Carolina and was fashioned into suits by the president's New York tailor.

DANCING FIFTY YEARS AGO

From the London Times.

A correspondent appeals to housewives to make introductions fashionable at London's best dances. This to help the young woman who is "compelled to sit out dances." Half a century ago, the young woman would not have been allowed even to sit out these dances.

G. W. E. Russell tells of the restrictions which hedged in the fashionable mists.

"Young women were only allowed to walk with their brothers or cousins. Their acquaintances were limited to square dances. No sitting out at a ball was permitted. At the end of each dance the man took his partner back to her chaperon, to whom he made a bow as he restored her charge."

There are 20,467,000 horses in the United States, valued at $1,778,322,000.

THE AUSTRIAN TRAGEDY

UNDOUBTEDLY the most pathetic figure in public life today is the aged Emperor of Austria, Franz Joseph. At the age of eighty-four, and with the extraordinary record of sixty-six years on the throne, his life has been one prolonged tragedy. No wonder his first exclamation, on hearing of the assassination of his nephew and heir, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, was, "Am I to be spared nothing?"

The Emperor ascended the throne at the age of eighteen. His marriage was unhappy and in 1898 the Empress was stabbed to death by an anarchist in Geneva. In 1867 the Emperor's brother Maximilian, who had seized the throne of Mexico, was captured by revolutionists and shot. In 1889 Franz Joseph's eldest son, the Archduke Rudolph, heir to the throne, committed suicide with his companion, Marie Vetsera. The next heir to the throne, the Archduke Johann, voluntarily abandoned his claims and sailed for South America. The ship was lost and he has never been heard of since.

And now comes the assassination of Franz Ferdinand, in whom rested the aged Emperor's only hope of a successor capable of holding the country together. Austria-Hungary is, politically, a troubled land. Its population is made up of more than a dozen nationalities, speaking different languages and with different political ideals and aspirations. The Emperor has contrived to win and retain the affection of all his subjects, and it is admitted that so long as he lives the country will remain at peace. But it is as freely predicted that his death will be followed by civil war. Franz Ferdinand was regarded as the ablest of all of the possible successors to the throne, and his assassination increases the seriousness of a situation which might easily lead to a general European war.

THE PHILIPPINE QUESTION

EVER since the Spanish-American War the question of the ultimate disposition of the Philippine Islands has been one of the favorite issues of the Democratic party. In 1900 Mr. Bryan proclaimed it as his "paramount issue," displacing even the erstwhile paramount money question. Four years later, under the leadership of Judge Parker, the Democrats again denounced the crime of "imperialism." When Bryan ran again in 1908 he was still demanding immediate independence for the oppressed and long-suffering little brown man.

In each of these elections the country overwhelmingly repudiated the Democratic proposal, along with all other Democratic proposals, by defeating the party. But with the election of Mr. Wilson the dwindling old guard of anti-imperialists took a new lease on life. For the Democratic platform of 1912 contained the usual pronouncement against the retention of the islands. A mild one, it is true, but enough to serve as a basis for renewal of the agitation.

Mr. Wilson's course since he entered the White House has justified the belief that he is in sympathy with the traditional attitude of the party and intends to make it effective. The government of the islands has been turned over to the natives in greater degree than ever before, and the immediate and inevitable result has been a renewal of the old agitation for independence.

Now the truth of the matter, as declared by every official who has ever served there in either the military or civil service, and by all others who are well informed, is that the Filipinos are no more capable of maintaining and establishing a just and stable government than are the Mexicans. Their conception of such terms as independence and representative government is totally different from ours; to them these terms mean merely an opportunity for the ruling faction to plunder the country for the benefit of its own pocket until such time as it is driven out of office by an equally hungry opposition.

Secretary Garrison recently announced that he has submitted to the President a new plan of Philippine administration, which he believes will be approved. Particulars of the plan have not been made public, but whatever Mr. Wilson may think of it, the country certainly will not give its indorsement if it means further encouragement to the impossible idea of early independence.

ALCOHOL AND ACCIDENTS

THIS from the Pittsburg Dispatch:

Between 7 and 8 o'clock has been defined as "the danger hour" of the Baritan Copper Works, 37 of the 265 accidents in the past six months having been recorded for that hour, which is the first hour of the day shift. It is known that more accidents occur on Monday morning than at any other time; also that more accidents occur on mornings that follow holidays than on the mornings of other days. The General Safety Committee's publication, the Inspector, says: "To any man who can think in a straight line, the above statistics mean just one thing. It is a plain fact, and well stated plainly. Too much drinking at night means foggy eyes and unsteady nerves next morning. Then the accidents pile up. Now, let's get right down to brass tacks. This is no grapevine journal. We hold no brief for prohibition. What we are working for is safety. Cut down the booze, and as surely as day follows night you will cut down the accidents."

With a multitude of facts like this to back their arguments it is not surprising that the enemies of the liquor trade are marching on to victory. In fact, there are indications that when the country gets a chance to vote on national prohibition it will be in a mood to make the vote unanimous.

THE TELEPHONE BOOK

WE learn with pleasure, and hasten to proclaim, that the telephone company will soon issue a new directory printed in large and perfectly legible type, type that can be read without the aid of a magnifying glass or without even the necessity of exposing it to the direct rays of the sun.

This is a scoop. It was not publicly known a few days ago when the council passed a resolution asking for a readable telephone directory, nor was it known yesterday when we commented on the subject in this column. But now it appears that the book is actually in type and will soon be printed and distributed.

We apologize to the telephone company for inadvertently putting it in bad. And we think it ought to apologize to the public, and to us, for keeping its good intentions secret instead of letting everybody know of them.

THE ACHILLES HEEL

From Collier's Weekly.

The vulnerable point of the Democratic party in the congressional election has fallen in the following quotation from their platform of 1912:

"We denounce the profligate waste of the money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses, which have kept taxes high and reduced the purchasing power of the people's toil. We demand a return to the simplicity and economy which befits a democratic government."

In the face of this plank the present Democratic Congress has been the most wastefully in the history of the federal government. If we were in charge of the anti-Democratic campaign this fall we would set the statisticians and the investigators busy upon the Democratic "work" bills and confine our campaign to them alone. It wasn't merely wanton wastefulness. It comes near being larceny on the part of individual members, for they are taking the money with a private motive—to buy their way back to congress with public money.

HOPE!

From the Baltimore American.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, and while there is life there is hope. These facts may explain the reason why the mediators at Niagara still hope to settle the situation.

SELLING OLD BATTLESHIPS

From the Washington Star.

The house having accepted the senate amendment to the naval bill providing for the sale of two old battleships to Greece, that transaction is now as good as completed, and it is expected that in a few days the Idaho and Mississippi will be turned over to the Greek agents and a check for $12,000,000 will be tucked into Uncle Sam's strong box to be applied to the cost of building a new dreadnaught.

From a business point of view this is a good bargain. Greece has two good ships of a class superior to her own present navy, and in this materially strengthened as against certain nearby powers inclined to make trouble for the government at Athens. The United States practically swaps these two obsolete vessels for a new one of the highest type and strengthens its own naval position correspondingly.

MORE THAN A JOKE

From Collier's Weekly.

"Of course I'm open to conviction," remarked a charming lady in the course of some trivial discussion, "but I'd just like to see the person who could convince me." She was talking off an idle pleasantry. But we have never heard any one sentence which so completely reflects the attitude of all reactionaries.

THE AUTOMOBILE IN RELIGION

From the Detroit Free Press.

One reads with mingled amazement and regret the report that the Dunkard or German Baptist convention in Indiana a few days ago decided to forbid for a time the purchase or use of automobiles by members of that denomination. It is amazing that any body of men and women can be so bigoted in this time of general enlightenment, and take such a stand. And it is matter for regret that the action breeds more disruption and disunion in the religious world. Surely there is already enough of this sort of thing remaining in the divided councils of the men and women to whom the world is looking for leadership in betterment without adding thereto for trivial reasons. To ban the automobile because of its worldliness reminds students of religious history of the time a few generations ago, when a Christian body divided on the question of buttons.

DEALING WITH DRUG TRAFFIC

From the New York Tribune.

The drug habit is at the root of most murders and of many other serious crimes, and it ruins hundreds of lives which never slip into crime. With the new law which is to take effect next month, this state has done about all that can be done by law to check the illicit traffic. The police and the prosecutors and the courts are doing splendid service in catching the drug traders and putting them behind the bars.

DANGERS OF MINING

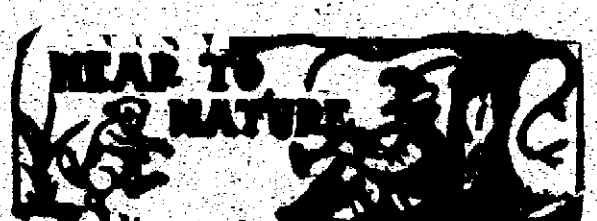

From the Philadelphia Telegraph.

The business of making mining safer for the men under ground has a long way to go yet. On the same day last week 200 miners were entombed in Canada, and an equal number buried in a shaft in Belgium. The Belgians subsequently escaped death more by good luck than anything else.

THE ENRAPTURED JAP.

From the New York Herald.

Japanese (25)—"Like master, like man." "Birds of a feather flock together." "Right person for right place." strictest self-confidence, with testimony, lead me to family on land or ocean, where first class services are required, with respect to "brain and its intellectual and artistic applications."

"Heart and its moral movement," and their invincible physical aptitudes, first as cook, secondly as butcher, thirdly and lastly generally willing to be useful, with maximum obedience and satisfaction, as if your smartest hands and legs as lightning to your brain. I, I, I am to you what air and matter are to life and cooking, and to cook as if "throwing aprons to catch whales," above all, desecrate and salads. I, I, I positively able to reduce your domestic economy to minimum with surprising results; possessing every essential fact necessary to do what others fail to do. In conclusion.

A Cure for Queerness

BY RUTH CAMERON

Once upon a time there was a girl who had the reputation of being very retiring and a bit queer.

As a result of this reputation all her friends and acquaintances treated her differently from the way they treated ordinary folks. They were conscious of her queerness, and that consciousness affected their manner. Needless to say, she did not grow any less queer.

Then one day there came into this girl's life a very wise lady. She liked the girl, she was much with her, and the girl responded to her presence like a flower to sunshine. She opened up, she became happier, at ease, mistress of herself. At first with her new friend, then with others.

"You have worked a miracle," everyone said to the wise lady. "However did you do it?"

"And the wise lady smiled. 'All I did,' she said, 'was to forget she was queer and treat her just like other people. She wasn't different, you know, only shy. All she needed was to be taken for granted and to be treated naturally.'"

Difference and difference are always being confused.

And the result is that those very people who particularly need the sunshine of natural friendliness are driven still more into themselves by the chill of formal and artificial treatment.

Try treating one of these shy, different folks exactly as you'd treat anyone else and see if it doesn't change and improve him. Of course, one dose of the treatment will not cure any more than one dose of medicine will make a patient well.

Very wealthy or famous people are another class who seldom get perfectly natural treatment. Their wealth or renown is an insuperable, but real, barrier between them and the common folk. Some people try to be extra nice to them on account of it; others are distant and disagreeable in their anxiety not to trouble; and even those who do not run to either extreme cannot be entirely natural because of their consciousness of that insuperable barrier.

In one of the sweetest books ever written, a great financier comes into contact with a young girl who does not know he is wealthy but thinks he is friendly and lovable. She tries to cheer him up by being especially kind to him, and the delight he takes in her simple, natural friendliness is really touching.

Criminals, too, I think, suffer from people's fixed notion that they are a class apart. It seems to me that one thing that would help them more than sympathy or money would be to treat them naturally.

Let me tell you a secret. After all, good people and bad people, rich people and poor people, great and plain, young and old, shy and fearless, are all just folks. Learn to treat them as just folks and you have found the royal road to men's hearts.

And if you are ever afraid of anyone, try to remember what Sam Walter Fens, the beloved poet laureate of our common people, said, "You'll find he's just as scared of you as you are scared of him."

VEST' Pocket Essays

BY GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old Bivash"

THE ALAMO

The Alamo was once a peaceful mission church in San Antonio, Tex. It was built of stone and adobe by the Spanish priests two centuries ago for the purpose of civilizing the Indians. But in order to keep the said Indians respectful while they were being civilized, it was built very substantially and in time of trouble the priests could lock the large front doors and discuss religion and other things through loopholes in a very destructive and persuasive manner.

In 1825 the people of Texas who had gotten even more weary of Mexico than the United States is at present, declared themselves to be free and independent. This caused considerable ill-feeling on the part of Mexico and wherever a Texan could be found, he was shot without waiting to take the case to the supreme court. During the bickering many Texans were wounded and were brought to San Antonio and quartered in the Alamo. Then General Santa Ana with 4,000 Mexicans came to San Antonio himself, and the garrison of 150 Texans had to decide whether to leave those sick and wounded men to be butchered in the conventional Mexican style or to stay with them and fight it out.

One of the proudest facts in American history is the fact that they stayed. For 12 days they held the Alamo although there were fewer of them each day to do it. They held the Alamo until the enemy after battering in the doors with cannon, charged in thousands strong. They held it then until the last room was taken. After that they held it until the last cartridge was gone. Then they continued to hold the Alamo until the last man of the garrison was dead—after which the Mexicans triumphantly massacred the remaining sick and wounded.

Some time ago died in the Alamo—David Crockett and Colonel Bowie were two of them—but the others were equally brave. They were so great "Various Texas societies quarrel bitterly for the glory of caring for it," that Mexicans have had nervous chills at the thought of fighting Texans ever since and one of the reasons why the United States army promulgated through to Mexico City so rapidly in 1846 was because the Mexicans remembered the Alamo.

This little building still stands in San Antonio, one of the great shrines of valor in existence. It is so greatly honored that various Texas societies quarrel bitterly for the glory of caring for it and there is some danger that the building itself may not be able to withstand the pulling and hauling.

TELLS OF COLORADO'S HIGHEST PEAKS

There are 38 peaks more than 14,000 feet high in Colorado; 110 peaks between 14,000 and 13,000 feet, and 31 between 13,000 and 12,000. These figures, given on the authority of the United States Geological Survey, have been taken from a map of the state which gives the names and elevations of the 39 highest peaks and mountains.

The highest is Massive mountain, 14,242 feet, followed by Elbert peak, only three feet lower. Blanca peak comes next only a little higher than Mount Harvard. Then comes La Plata peak, exceeding Grays by only one foot; and these are followed in order by Tatter peak and Evans mountain.

Contrary to the general opinion which is said to prevail particularly among tourists, Pikes Peak, the best known of all, is far from being the highest. And it is exceeded by no less than 24 of Colorado's mountains.

There are only two passes above the 13,000-foot level, Argentine and Mosquito; the first is 15,000 feet, the second 11,000 feet, and 24 above 10,000. The names and elevations of the 39 highest are given along with those of the 38 peaks above 14,000 feet.

The Six Rules.

On the reverse of the card the six rules advocated by the federal forest service for the prevention of fires, are printed. Recreation seekers and sportsmen are urged to follow the rules when hunting, fishing or camping in the mountains of the state, in order that permanency may be insured to the pleasures which they enjoy. They are also reminded to leave their camp sites in neat and sanitary condition so as to safeguard public health and to make it more pleasant for other campers who may follow them in occupying the same camping grounds.

The six rules are as follows: 1. Be sure your match is out before you throw it away. 2. Knock your pipe ashes or throw your cigar or cigarette stump where there is nothing to catch fire. 3. Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary. Never leave it, even for a short time, without putting it out with water or dirt. 4. Don't build a camp fire against a tree or a log. Build a small one where you can scrape away the needles, leaves or grass from all sides of it. 5. Don't build bonfires. The wind may come up at any time and start a fire you cannot control. 6. If you discover a fire, get word of it to the nearest United States forest ranger or state fire warden just as quickly as you possibly can.

Copies of the card, which is of small pocket size, may be secured from forest supervisors in Colorado, or from the office of the forest service in Denver.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Arterio-sclerosis means hardening of the arteries. When water runs day by day on a stone or hole in worn therein, Arteries, overstrained day by day suffer a loss in their elastic fibers; but instead of showing holes where the worn out fibers were, there is a compensatory overgrowth of white inelastic fibers. The arterial wall, instead of thinning, thickens, and the blood passage is narrowed. The process requires years.

The blood pressure is the way of measuring its progress. It is the process of growing old. In fact, one way of putting it is to say that the man of 50 has 50-year-old arteries.

In hardening of the arteries, the pressure may reach 300. Two hundred is not infrequent. When this great pressure is analyzed it is found that the diastolic pressure is low and the pulse pressure is high.

Hardening of the arteries cannot be cured. The condition is there. It has been earned. The man has had his flunk, and he must pay the fiddler. But that does not mean that he should lay down and quit. It is better to throw out a rear guard and fight to protect the retreat than to fight at all. Why allow a defeat to state into a rout?

A man with arterio-sclerosis should have his pressure taken periodically. He can regulate himself so that he can live a long life and a comfortable one. By temperance in drinking, eating, working, and worrying he may avoid the rocks which his arterio-sclerosis has thrown into his path.

By watching his pressure he can foresee and forestall some of those rocks. For instance, if he is having vertigo (dizziness) and an examination shows a considerable rise in his pressure he should guard against dizziness by starting and purging. On finding that his pressure has risen suddenly and sharply, he should have his urine examined for albumin, since Bright's disease is even more threatening than arterio-sclerosis.

Also, he should remember that a heart working against a high pressure is under extra strain, and knowing this, he should keep track of the pulse pressure to know the work his heart is doing and how well it is holding up under it.

Nor are these suggestions formidable—a few weeks of trial to adjust one's life to a basis of temperance and then little thought or attention need be given to it.

The best opinion is that, under ordinary circumstances, it is not advisable to attempt to lower blood pressure. Faught says:

"It is always a bad rule to promiscuously institute measures to reduce blood pressure. Blood pressure reduction should only be attempted for a good reason, based upon a careful study of the case."

Leave the pressure where it is, but so live that it will not go higher.

ALBUMIN IN URINE

R. I. E. writes: "Does a slight trace of albumin in the urine, say one-tenth of 1 per cent, indicate much? What general diet is prescribed for cases of this kind?"

REPLY.

It indicates much or little, dependent on how it influences. Older men note on the advantages of a trace of albumin. What he meant was that it was an advantage when the person concerned accepted it as a warning and allowed up. A man with a trace of albumin might live out his full span if he thereafter were temperate in all things. Temperance is the keynote of dieting for chronic Bright's. Not abstinence from meat, but temperance in eating meat; temperance in work, worry, and exposure.

COWS FED ON CANNED FODDER WITHSTAND FREEZING WEATHER BETTER THAN OTHERS

Stock Experts Declare Silos Played a Big Part in Saving Herds Last Winter

Haymen and stockmen throughout El Paso county who brought their cattle safely through the big snow storm of last December and January declare that the pit silo is chiefly responsible for their escape from heavy losses. The pit silos, they say, kept their stock supplied with nutritious food, and when the big storm came the cattle were in prime physical condition and easily withstood the cold.

Investigation by the Agricultural Department of the Rock Island Road, conducted by Dr. H. M. Carroll, agricultural commissioner, and Victor H. Schoffmeyer, editor of the Southwest Trail, brought to light that prominent hay and cattle raisers, who own silos, and other livestock, valued conservatively at $50,000, perished from exposure and lack of food. In every instance investigated a single head of stock was lost where a farmer had fed silage to his cows. At an average cost of $10 for a pit silo, it was about worth $100 to have dug 1,000 silos.

Here to investigate. Professor Carroll, Schoffmeyer and C. E. Daniels of the Immigration Department of the Rock Island Road, are in Colorado Springs to investigate conditions. The August issue of the Southwest Trail will be devoted to pit silos and will contain important accounts of the successful feeding of silage in El Paso county. Mr. Schoffmeyer, in company with W. H. Lauck, county agricultural agent, have traveled hundreds of miles through the agricultural section of the county to gather data, which will be made public. In all there are at present about 40 pit silos in the county, but arrangements have been completed by farmers of the Colorado Springs, Gallegos, Rush, Squirrel Creek, Locust Grove and Cattle Creek districts to dig at least 200 pit silos this fall. It was found that a pit silo 10 by 20 feet can be dug and plastered with a surface of cement for not to exceed $5. As it can be dug at a time when the farmer is not engaged otherwise on the farm, there is practically no expense for labor. Lauck has arranged a pit silo day for July 10, at the farm of Ed Wagoner near Voder, when a practical demonstration of pit silo digging will be given under his direction.

Had Silos: Stock Lived. While farmers in the Union Hill district lost approximately 150 animals during the storm, chiefly from lack of feed, C. A. Addison, a dairyman and farmer, saved every cow on his place. He has two pit silos and filled them with corn silage and alfalfa about 10 tons. He fed to 15 milch cows, calves, and six horses. The four milch cows kept him in milk all winter. None of the silage was spoiled. He said that it would pay him if he had only four cows to sell one to get the money for the construction of a pit silo for his neighbors. His four cows gave as much milk on silage as he had on hay. He said that the silage was not spoiled. He said that the silage was not spoiled. He said that the silage was not spoiled.

Many Will Dig Silos. All through the winter when most milch cows fed only hay and corn, the dairy herd of J. J. Hall and Sons at Gallegos produced nearly 100,000 pounds of milk. They were fed silage out of two 20-foot pit silos and Hall intends to dig another this summer. As a result of such success, pit silos are the chief topic of conversation among farmers on the divide or on the plains. A conservative estimate of the pit silos which will be dug this summer is at least 200. Crop conditions never were so promising as at present, and every farmer who digs a pit silo may safely count on having all the necessary feed to fill it.

MISS BETTY H. GARDNER TO LEAVE BETH-EL HOSPITAL

Superintendent of Nurses Resigns Position, Effective Next December

Will Go to Home in New York

Miss Betty H. Gardner, superintendent of nurses at Beth-El hospital, who has been connected with the institution since its beginning, has handed her resignation to the board of trustees to take effect December 15 of this year. She will go to her home in New York city after leaving here for a long time. She has no plans at present for taking up further work in her profession.

Miss Gardner came to the hospital in July, 1911, and took a position in the operating room. During her years in the department she made the technique of the Beth-El operating room known throughout the state. In November, 1913, she was made superintendent of nurses and since that time has been in the training school constantly.

According to the nurses and physicians at the hospital, the resignation of Miss Gardner means the loss of one of the most congenial spirits of the institution.

COUNCIL CONSIDERING NEW LAW FOR DRIVERS

Limitation of the number of drivers of tourist carriages and automobiles to persons who are actual residents of Colorado Springs has been asked of the city council by the tourist drivers. This request has been brought before Mayor McKesson and the council and the advisability of limiting a new set of automobile regulations, tourist drivers, is being considered. Just what regulation the city will make has not been decided upon, but the commissioners are making a thorough investigation of the situation, and probably will take action on the ordinance soon. In the meantime they are considering whether a residence of six months or a year should be required, and have asked the city attorney to look up the legality of such a limitation.

The drivers of tourist automobiles who have asked that the tax on the automobiles and carriages be equalized, saying that they now pay almost twice as much tax as the carriage drivers, but do only about half as much business. The commissioners, for information on the relative earnings of tourist automobiles and carriages prepared.

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

Sufferers from Tuberculosis often think that medicine will not help them. Fresh air, regular habits and good food aid in restoring health, but many have been restored to health by Eckman's Alternative. Read this.

Weldon, Ill. "Gentlemen—Through your benevolent aid I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 11, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Phenomena, which developed into Tuberculosis (thallid) in February, 1905. I went to Fort Worth, Texas, and later to Canon City, Colorado. After being there two weeks my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive. On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Lung Trouble. Now I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. (Abbreviated.)

(Affidavit) ARTHUR WERR, Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.
